The Situation.

KINS, of Stowe.

Never before in the history of the polities of the United States, has such discomfiture been manifested by a party upon the eve of an important election, as by the Democracy at the present time. It is something which the supporters of Grant and Colfax were not prepared to witness; it is something which they dio fully prepared to meet the issues of the and sweeping Republican majorities. day, no matter by whom, or through whom they are presented. The Democracy met in National Convention in New York, on the fourth of July last, and after a le. gthy session, framed their pla for c and nominated their can lidates upon it. Judge Chase who was a favourite with the more conservative o the party leaders, was violently opposed Pendleton, Valandingham, Brick Po naroy and other politicians of that school which opposition resulted in the nomination of Seymour and Bair, the men of their choice. The platform was constructed for Seymour and Bar to start upon, and to represent the views of the unrepentant rebels.
